

COLD JOKES by Angelos Magnisalis

- Last day of the year in a philosophy school the teacher says 'I will give you a small test. Whoever finds out the solution, will take their degree and go away'. He puts a chair on the desk and he says 'Tell me, with all the theory we have learned during these years why does this chair not exist?' The students start writing whole lines, books, essays and a boy quickly wrote a sentence, gave it, got the degree and went home. What was his answer? 'Which chair?'

- What is the name of a basketball player who lives in Spynalonga? LePron James
- A Greek woman was born in Greece, studied in France married in Egypt and died in USA. What is she?..... Dead!
- There is a boat of some rich American people in the Pacific Ocean, and they pass by a desert island on which there is an old man with two metres of beard and no clothes. He stands up and starts waving to the boat. Then an American asks the captain: "Why does he wave like this must we do something?" and the captain answers: "Don't worry, it's the fifth time he does this, he is just happy to see us!!!!"
- When you have 5 apples and 3 oranges on the one hand and 3 apples and 5 oranges on the other one, what do you have? Very big hands !!!
- Conversation between two friends after a test:
 - I handed in a blank test.
 - Oh me too !!!
 - Are you out of your mind? They will understand we copied from each other and punish us!!!

